Two men are working on a metal frame in the foreground. One man is standing and talking on a mobile phone, while the other is bent over, working on the frame.

The man on the right is wearing a dark blue jacket and is focused on his work.

The wall is covered in white panels with the 'Coberlum' logo. The logo consists of a blue square with a white 'C' inside, followed by the word 'Coberlum' in a blue sans-serif font. The panels are arranged in a grid pattern, with red horizontal lines separating the rows. On the right side of the wall, there is a large red and white graphic. The graphic features a white circular shape with a red outline, resembling a stylized eye or a logo element. The red background is jagged, as if it has been cut out of the wall.
